

Instructions for Accessing Sermons via GMPC Church Website

Hopefully these instructions will act as a guide for easier access to GMPC weekly sermons. For your convenience, I have added big red arrows to help illustrate the instructions properly.

When you access the GMPC website, you will see in the bottom left-hand corner the word “here.” Click on it with your mouse to open up the link (as illustrated below).

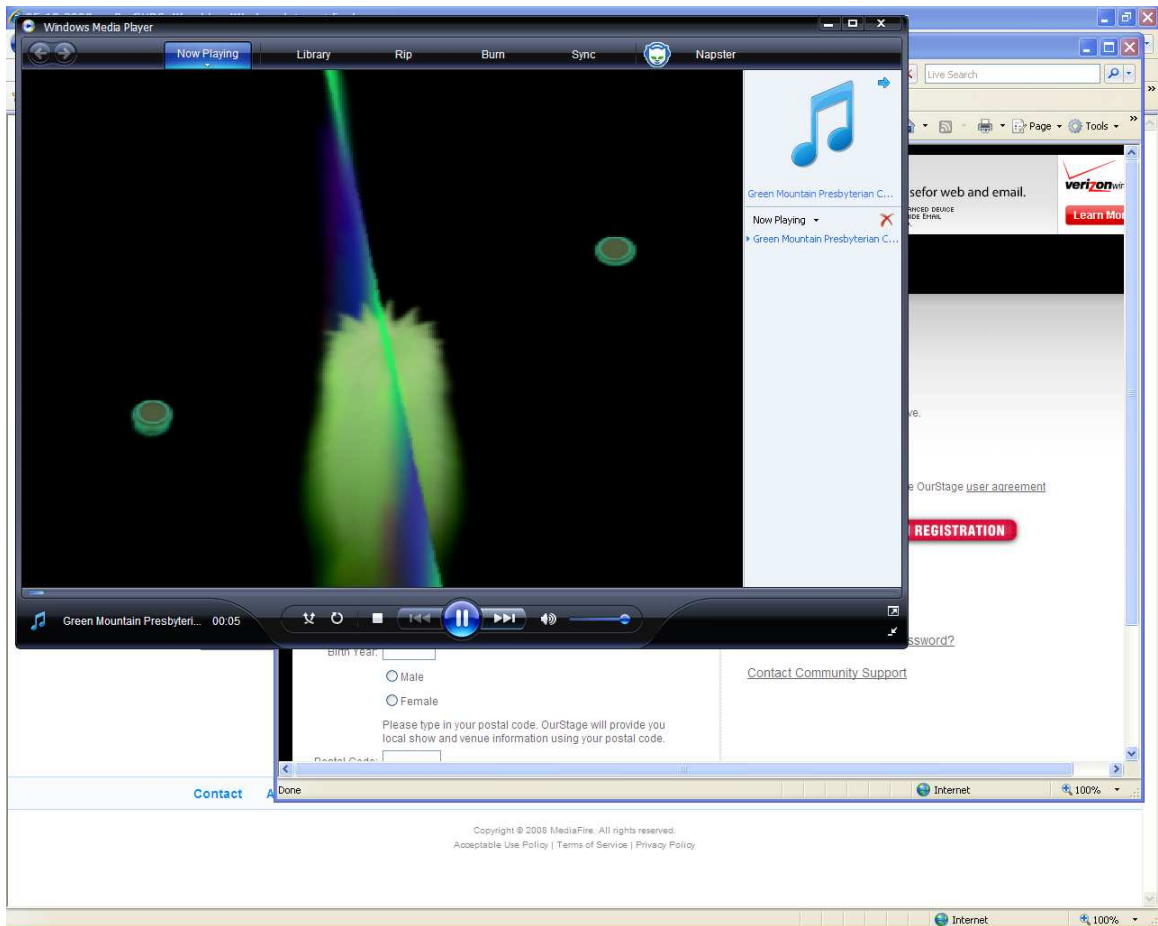

Once you click on the link, a new page will open up. It is possible that all sorts of spam may appear, so try not to click on anything except “Click here to start download.” (Please see illustration below on page 2 of these instructions.)

Depending upon your individual computer bandwidth, this could load quickly, or this could take a long time (if your computer connection is slow, or if you use a modem to access the internet). Please be patient.

The following screen will then appear (please see illustration below on page 3 of these instructions).

Once the page has loaded properly, it should automatically play. There should be nothing additional for you to press to get the sermon to play. Please note, that if you do press something, it may accidentally be the “stop” button, so again, please be careful.

Thanks and I hope you enjoy Pastor Gretchen’s sermons as much as we do!
